

Electronic Insurance Verification and Reporting

Electronic Insurance Verification and Reporting (EIVR) helps solve the problem of missing or invalid insurance information that can cost you time and money. Utilizing state of the art technology it just takes the press of a function key in your existing application to retrieve insurance and benefit information in just seconds. The results of your inquiry are automatically stored – no typing required. An instant productivity booster, EIVR makes checking insurance eligibility so fast and affordable, there's no reason not to do it for every patient.

EIVR uses a secure (HIPAA compliant) encrypted connection to our data center and which is processed and then routed using 270/271 EDI communication protocols to the appropriate payer for verification. The answer is formatted and returned via secure connection in just seconds and appears on your screen and is stored in the patient's record in your data base. This reduces or eliminates the need for repetitive insurance eligibility checking for patients or subscribers. More than 100 different payers are currently supported.

Features Include:

- Accurate determination of patient co-pay and deductible
- Minimizes claim denials, reducing accounts receivable problems, and improving cash flow
- Easy to use, no additional learning curve, improvement in productivity
- Facilitates the patient enrollment process
- Real-time processing, with immediate response within the application
- Saves administrative time and reduces labor costs
- Meets all HIPAA/CMS criteria for identification, authentication, and encryption
- Rules-based for client flexibility and customization

The insurance benefits information returned will be stored as part of the patient record and an automatic notice that the eligibility checking has been done will be made on the patient account for reference in other applications. In addition, a print-out of the benefits information for the patient can be produced automatically.

For as little as $500.00 per month, your facility can gain the benefits of instant and integrated insurance verification and benefits reporting. Call today to order this new option for your IHS suite of applications and immediately save time and save money.
